* If the difference in column 1 is less than zero, enter "0" in column 2.
 ** If the Highest Number Paid For is greater than the number of independent claims, enter "0".
 *** If the Highest Number Paid For is greater than the number of independent claims, enter "0".
 The Highest Number Paid For is the number of independent claims in the previous submission.
 If the number of independent claims in the current submission is less than the number of independent claims in the previous submission, the number of independent claims in the current submission is used to determine the fee.
 If the number of independent claims in the current submission is greater than the number of independent claims in the previous submission, the number of independent claims in the previous submission is used to determine the fee.
 If the number of independent claims in the current submission is the same as the number of independent claims in the previous submission, the number of independent claims in the current submission is used to determine the fee.
